TAIR HOPES OF "QUEEN'S WEATH-ER" IN CROWDED LONDON.

Mundreds of Thousands Had No Sleep Last Night-Other Thousands Slept Peacefully on the Sidewalks-At Sunrise People Were Trooping to the Points of Vantage-Streams of Vehicles Passing Over the Boute of the Royal Procession-Crowds That Had Gathered Around St. Paul's Made the Streets Reverberate with "God Save the Queen. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUL.

Laxpox, June 22-4:80 A. M.-Jubilee morning has dawned, not with cloudless skies, but warm and with fair hopes of "Queen's weather" after the sun is a little higher. The streets, ever at this early hour, are already more crowded than is usual at midday. Indeed, they have been thronged all night, for several hundreds of thousands of people in London have had no sleep during the past night. This, however, is not regarded as a hardship, for in most cases it was an expected incident of the celebration.

At the present moment long streams of vehicles are slowly passing over the route that will be followed to-day by the royal procession Carts, cabs, and traps of every variety, crowded to the utmost with country people, pass along, their occupants staring with admiring eyes at

The West End streets are in possession of residents of the East End, who, in spite of the fact that they have not had a wink of sleep the whole night through, maintain their proverbial cheerfulness. Girls and men wearing each other's hats are trooping through streets that are little used to such visitors, while others are enjoying their peculiar vis-à-vis form of dance to the strains of mouth organs and concertinas. Here and there groups may be seen stretched in apparent comfort on the sidewalks of the streets just off the main route, sleeping peacefully, the noise and confusion about them having no effect upon their slumber. Many people of the better class are already making their way to the points of vantage from which they will view the procession. Altogether the sight is a strange and unprece-Sented one, and from it it is now easy to calculate the vastness of the crowd which, later, will pack every foot of ground along the route the Queen will traverse. The final rehearsal of the service that will take place to-day was held last evening outside of St. Paul's Cathedral. The choir and bands rendered the hymns that will be sung, and the clergy read the prayers that will be used.

An immense crowd was present. Bareheaded and silent it stood until the last amen was uttered. Then there was a murmur of applause for the beautiful music.
Suddenly some one shouted "The Queen," and struck the note to which all those present were strung. From all directions could be heard voices calling for the national anthem or cries of " The Queen, God bless her."

Then a section of the crowd began singing "God Save the Oneen." They lacked leadership until Dr. Martin, the choir conductor, signalled for the choir to remain and motioned to the crowd for silence.

When this was obtained the bands began playing the anthem, the choir singing the words hymn was taken up by the whole crowd. and an immense volume of sound rolled into the adjacent streets, where the throngs joined in the singing until the thoroughfares reverberated like

Never was there such a remarkably spontane-sus outburst of enthusiasm in London. Num-bers of those present were genuinely overcome and sobbed, while the influence of the great outpouring of praise and reverence was felt, even by the rowdies in the crowds, who remained silent and refrained from their customary borse

LONDON SEES THE QUEEN.

The Grandest and Most Spontaneous Ovation

Special Cable Desputch to The Sun. LONDON, June 21 .- To the great relief of all, the day is warm, bright, and promising in Lonboot the metro practically at a standstill and everybody is holiday making. Street traffic is confined to the multitude of pleasure parties and sightseers. Completion of the countless decorations and stands is being pushed with the greatest energy

The Queen, accompanied by Empress Frederick and Princesses Beatrice and Christian, arrived at Paddington station from Windsor at 12:30 P. M. The spontaneous veneration with which the Queen was treated as soon as she set foot in London was most remarkable. When the saloon train with the Queen on board entered the crowded station at Paddington every head was bared in silence for a moment, and then the cheering began and was kept up for several minutes.

The Queen, upon alighting from the train, walked slowly up a gently sloping treatle, leaning with her right hand upon a solid walking tick, which had belonged to Charles L., and her eft arm resting upon that of a lithe Indian servant. This was the signal for another outburst of loud and long cheering. Then Princess Beatrice raised her mother's veil, disclosing the smiling face of the sovereign.

Her Majesty was waited upon at the station by the Paddington Vestry, who presented her with an address of congratulation. When the Queen received the address Princess Christian sanded her Majesty's reply in manuscript to the Queen, who passed it out to Vicar Abbott of Paddington. The Queen did not speak herself. Her Majesty's reply to the address of the Vestry consisted of an expression of her thanks and good wishes and references to charities in which the late Prince Consort took deep interest, and which she felt were equally dear to her son, the Prince of Wales. The Queen and her party then entered an open carriage drawn by four horses, with postilions and outriders, and were driven to Buckingham Palace. The carriage was escorted by a body of the Life Guards. The route which was taken by way of the Edgeware road and Hyde Park was packed with people who had assembled at an early hour in the morning, and the vast crowds received the Queen with immense athusiasm, the cheering being continuous.

The pavements, balconies, and windows were packed with sightseers who welcomed the sovereign royally. The Queen's daughters, Empress Frederick and Princesses Beatrice and Helens, as well as the Queen herself, were delighted with the demonstration, and unceasingly manifested their gratification as they drove along the route to the palace. All four were dressed in black. The Queen wore white osprey feathers in her bonnet. The vast space fronting Buckingham Palace was filled with people of all classes, and the outburst of loyalty which manifested itself in deafening cheers as the royal carriage appeared was the grandest and most spontaneous ever witnessed in London. The Queen acknowledged the tribute by bowing and smiling, and her daughters returned the salutes of the people with great animation. The royal standard was hoisted over Buckingham Palace immediately upon the arrival of the en at 1:05 o'clock, amid the deafening cheers of the enormous crowds that occupied every available space, the popular ovation being un-

The Queen was a little fatigued when she teached Hu kingham Palace and she remained in the palace garden resting herself throughout rmoon until it was time to prepare for e state banquet to be given to-night.

The weather during the afternoon was cloudy and sultry.

ABDICATION OF THE QUEEN.

It Is Said Victoria Will Soon Notify the Nation of Her Desire to Retire.

Special Cable Desputch to THE SUR. LONDON, June 21.-The Exchange Telegraph Company circulates the first public report in England of the approaching abdication of the Queen, as follows:

"Her Majesty's own desire that the corona ion of the Prince of Wales should take place during her own lifetime has frequently beer expressed to those who are in close attendance at court, and it is regarded as certain that the Queen will shortly notify the nation of her wish o surrender the crown to her son."

JUBILEE HONORS. .

Shorter List than Was Expected -- Fow Titles Conferred.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 21 .- The list of those receiving jubiles honors is shorter than was expected, The titles conferred by her Majesty are very few, the bulk of the honors consisting of Orders of the Bath and St. Michael and St. George. A shoal of military and naval decorations are con ferred, but they are of no interest to any one outside of those services.

Searching for something new to confer on the Prince of Wales, the officials have evolved the title of Great Master and Principal Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath.

SAGASTA PROCLAIMS WAR.

SPANISH LIBERALS WILL HAVE NO RELATIONS WITH CANOVAS.

They Will Support the Government in Nothing Till the Duke of Tetuan Retires from Office -Wayler Must Be Recalled -They Denounce Canovas's Cuban Policy in Strong Terms Special Cable Despatch to THE SUS.

Mappin, June 21,-Sefor Sagasta, the leader of the Liberal party, yesterday summoned the Liberal ex-Ministers to a conference, at which the political situation was discussed. A manifesto was drawn up which in substance de clared that the Liberals would persist in ab staining from having any relations with the Government so long as the Duke of Tetuan Minister of Foreign Affairs, remained in office

The Duke of Tetuan, it will be remembered recently incurred the hostility of the Liberals by boxing the ears of Senator Comas in the lobby of the Cortes since which incident they have refused to take part in the legislative proceedings.

The manifesto further declares that the scheme of reforms advanced by Prime Minister Canovas del Castillo is totally insufficient to pacify Cuba, and that the Liberals consider that Capt.-Gen. Weyler must be recalled and a new Governor appointed who will prosecute the war in accordance with the practices of fcivilization and stop the reign of terror and the devastation of property, which are virtually delaying the pacification of the island.

The Liberal party also considers that it is necessary to appoint a royal commissary, who must be a civilian statesman, and who must be fully empowered to act apart from the military officers, to effect reforms in Cuba promptly on the widest basis of autonomy in political, administrative, economic, tariff, and legislative matters compatible with the retention of Spain's sovereignty in Cuba.

The manifesto expresses the intention of the Liberals to go very far in the sacrifice of Spanish commercial interests and in sharing the colonial war debts if by so doing pacification can be speedily effected.

CUBA'S PAPER MONEY.

oner Castellane Caunet Make the Spantards In Cuba Like It.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUR.

MADRID, June 21.—Señor Castellano, Minister of the Colonies, complains that the Cu oans [meaning the sympathizers with Spain in Cubal are placing obstructions in the way of the use of the paper currency in Cuba, desiring that the expenses of the war shall full salely upon Spain. He says that he has received no definite answer to his request that the Cuban-Spanish Junta submit a resolution that might end the onflict.

Señor Castellano desired to arrange for the gradual amortization of the Cuban debt in three or four years, but the Cubans demanded the immediate withdrawal of the paper currency or its conversion into a sort of Bank of Spain notes, which would be exchangable for specie on de-mand. Schor Castellano refused to accede to this demand. He proposed a credit opera-tion of $20,000,000, gradually amortizable, with a 5 per cent. ad valorem duty on merchandise, and, if necessary, 15 per cent, on indirect taxes

The Minister of the Colonies refutes the state ment that the army in Cuba is paid in paper money, which loses half its face value. He says that only one-fourth of the pay of the soldiers and sailors is made in paper. Regarding the arrears in the pay of the military and the civil service. Señor Castellano declares that the January expenses will soon be paid.

WEYLER KILLS THE NEWS.

Nothing to Be Printed in Havens About Ameri can Sympathy with Cuba.

HAVANA, via Key West, June 21 .-- Gen, Weyler has given orders to the press censor not to allow any more news to be published concerning demonstrations of sympathy with the Cubans in the United States or in regard to the anti-Spanish policy of the American Administration, as news of this character encourages the insurgents.

The press censor has suppressed a despatch from New York to a newspaper in Havana about the correspondence published in THE SUN, giving details of the failure or the "race war" scheme conceived by the Marquis of Rabell and his friends.

In a second engagement at Lomas de la Union, Havana province, Gen. Molina's Spanish col-

Havana province, Gen. Molina's Spanish column was defeated by the insurgents under Acosta. The column lost fourteen killed and twenty-six wounded. The insurgent losses were slight.

At Curasado Hequiabo, also in Havana province, the Spanish battalion of Manacas, after a hot engagement with the patriots, retreated in disorder, leaving on the field nine killed and eighteen wounded. The column, carrying with it other wounded men, took refuge at the estate
La Rosa, protected by the Spanish forts.

A Cuban hospital in the district of Guines has been destroyed by Gen. Navarro's column. Several sick and wounded men in the hospital were killed. A small Cuban guard which was at the bospital made some resistance, killing five Spanish soldiers and one Captain.

CUBAN PATRIOTS REACH NEW YORK. Left Cuba in Open Boats-They Bear Comm sions and Letters to Delegate Palma.

Col. Fernando Salcedo of the Cuban patriot army arrived here yesterday on board the steamer Kingston from Jamaica, accompanied by his brother Rafael, a boy 12 years old, and José Lugones, a pilot in the employ of the revolutionists. Salcedo left Cuba on May 23 in an open, flat-bottomed yawl, which took the party to Port Antonio, Jamaica. Salcedo belongs to one of the most distinguished families in Santiago de Cuba, where he practised law. In April, 1895, he joined the patriot forces under Gen. Antonio Maceo, and was soon promoted for his bravery. He brings official correspondence from Gen. Calixto Garcia official correspondence from Gen. Calixto Garcia to Delegate Estrada Palma, and will return to Cuba after he has recovered from sickness contracted while in the field.

Majors Paulino Beaulardin and Marcelino Siero, Capt. Rafael Gutterrez and Artilleryman Michael Walsh of the Cuban patriot army arrived yesterday in New York, charged with an important commission from the Cuban leaders in Pinar del Rio to the delegation in this city. They left the island on June 13 in a boat six teen feet long, and after having been for two or three days adrift were picked up by the steamer Agne, which landed them at Mobile on June 17.

Major Siero, a Spaniard by birth, has been especially appointed to purchase the instruments and material necessary for repairing firearms and reloading cartridges.

GOV. ATEINSON TO THE RESCUE. BLAZE IN THE NAVY YARD. To Marry Mrs. Camden, Who Has Been Indicted on a Charge of Forgers PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 21.-It is announced to-night that the marriage of Gov. Atkinson and Mrs. Myra Camden will take place on June 25. Mrs. Camden was indicted recently on charges made in the name of the resecuting atterney. She is accused of forgery and conspiracy to defraud in the settlement o her husband's estate. There is but a very alleht chance that the case will come to trial The indictment grew out of the fact that Mrs. Camden sold certain real estate belonging to Judge Camden to Joshua P. Owens for $1,800, giving receipts for the money in the Judge's

The death of Judge Camden was very sudden, and it is alleged that the receipts were not de-livered until after his funeral. The heirs such Mrs. Owens to recover the property, and were net with these receipts. The indictment followed. When the arrest of Mrs. Camden on a capias was made Gov. Atkinson was at Morgantow taking part in the commencement exercises of the West Virginia University. He hurried to Clarksburg, obtained the details, left his daughters with their future stepmother, and vent to the capital to see that the best lawyers in the State were engaged for the defence.

Gov. Atkinson is a widower, 56 years old. whose family consists of two sons and two daughters. The prospective bride is a handsome, petite brunette, whose maiden name was Myra D. Horner. Mrs. Camden's marriage to Gov. Atkinson will be her third matrimonial venture, her first husband having been a Dr. avis, whose two sons are now conspicuous and wealthy business men. Several years after Dr. Davis's death his widow married Judge Gideon D. Camden, one of the largest landowners in the State. By Judge Camden's death, which occurred at Hot Springs, Ark., his widow came into a large fortune. She maintains a fine esablishment in Clarksburg, where she passes her summers, making her winter home in Washagton. She is the sister of Mrs. Mary Goff, a leader in Washington society, who is the widow of Nathan Goff, after whom United States Judge

Nathan Goff was named. Gov. Atkinson was asked to give an explanation of Mrs. Camden's indictment by the Gilmer County Circuit Court Grand Jury. He said that it was merely an effort on the part of other heirs of Judge Gideon D. Camden to secure property which they claimed and which, the Governor and Mrs. Camden say, belongs to Mrs. Camden. The Governor said he believed there was an effort also to humiliate him, but he declared Mrs. Camden would not have any trouble in clear ing herself, and they were to be married anyhow It is understood that the case will be fought to the bitter end, both sides having retained the finest lawyers in the State.

FOUND HARD LUCK IN LIBERIA. Assisted Emigrants Return with a Tale of

A party of colored folks, consisting of eight women, five men, and three children, arrived here yesterday from Sierra Leone on the American bark Liberia. They were originally a part of a company of 311 black people from Missouri and Arkansas, who sailed from Savannah in March, 1896, under the auspices of the International Migration Company of Birmingham, Ala. A white agent of the company sailed with them, but, according to the Liberia's passengers, he descried them at Sierra Leone. The men of the party declare that they sailed under a promise that good farming land and implement would be given to them on their arrival in Liberia, and that they got neither. They say that they were sent into the interior with a lot of barbaric native Liberian blacks, and that it was as much as they could do to got a bare living. They say that they worked hard and suffered much.

About one-half of the colonists died of fevers. The survivors became so poor that they could not provide coffins for their dead, who were buried in trenches. The sixteen blacks who landed here yesterday want to get back to their old homes in Arkansas and Missouri. They say they can never be persuaded to go to Africa

Charles T. Geyer, the Liberian Vice-Consul at this port, said that the trouble with most of the colored people who went to Liberia was that they expected to find it a paradise, where one might get along without working. The hardy and industrious ones stayed in the country, but usually the others came back. The men had a endency to loaf around Monrovia, the capital of the Black Republic, after landing, and contracted fevers there that made them unfit for work in the interior.

FOUR HITS OUT OF SIX SHOTS. Pine Gun Practice with the Disappearing Rifles at Willets Point.

WILLETS POINT, L. I., June 21.-In the artil lery practice at the fort here to-day the big 10 disappearing rifles were used for the first time in the two weeks' stay of Batterics B and C of the Fifth Regular Artillery. Pending the arrival of smokeless powder and projectiles for the rifles the artillerymen have been practising with some of the old guns and mortars here and at Fort Schuyler. The ammunition came last night, and this morning two targets were anchored out in the Sound, one 7,900 yards and the other 6,650 yards distant. Three shots were fired by each battery. The testion on David's Island signalled the stationic here, when boats were dangerously near the line of fire, and also reported the results of the shots. A practice charge of 300 pounds of Brown prismatic powder was used, the projectiles heing of the 575 steel armorpiercing type. Four "bits" were scored out of the six shots, the projectiles striking within twenty-five feet of the target, which was near enough to have hit any war vessel. One projectile fired by Battery B struck within two yards of the target. The officers in command and that the firing was remarkably good. The officers of the Board of Visitors, who are making the semi-annual inspection, said the practice was a full-dress they had ever seen.

After the gun practice there was a full-dress night, and this morning two targets were an-After the gun practice there was a full-dress parade of three battallons of the Engineer corps, which was reviewed by the Board of Visitors.

RUNAWAY WITH A LOAD OF GIRLS. An Augry Driver Lashes the Rorses and

Causes a Bad Upset. KEWANEE, Ill., June 21 .- The graduating class of the Neponset High School yesterday held a picnic at Kewanee Lake. On the way home in the evening, the driver, L. O. Gardner, asked one of the girls to sit on the front seat with him. This she declined to do. Enraged at her refusal, Gardner threw the lines over the double trees and lashed the horses into a galloy. Up hill and down hill the horses dashed, carrying behind them the frightened girls. High speed was continued for more than a mile. Then, at a turn in the road, the carriage upset and the occupants were thrown out, some of them being hurled as far as the hedge by the roadside, while the wagon dashed others to the sground. Every one of the girls was hurt more or less, and four had broken hones and were injured internally. Miss Maude Hennett and Miss Lou Harvey are in a critical condition.

Doctors from Kewance were summoned and the nearest farmhouse was turned into a hospital. The parents of the girls will take criminal action against Gardner. home in the evening, the driver, L. O. Gardner,

An American and a Spaniard Fight Over the GUADALAJARA, Mexico, June 21.-Herndo Fietcher, an American mining man, and ignatio Reavis, a Spanlard, employed in a dry goods house here, fought a duel on the Hallos plantation, near here, last evening. The affair was kept very quiet, and only the duellists, their sept very quiet, and only the ducilists, their seconds and physicians were present.

The duci was with pistols, and resulted in both men being seriously wounded at the first fire. They had quarrelled over the Cuban ques-tion and the Spaniard issued a challenge, which was promptly accepted. The two men are se-creted by their friends to avoid arrest.

ORDNANCE BUILDING NO. 13 DE-STROYED COMPLETELY.

Marines from the Harracks and Jackies from the Warshins Made a Good Fight, but Couldn't Stop the Fire-Water Scarce-Ma chine Guns Destroyed-Damage 6800.000.

One of the ordnance buildings in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, a three-story brick structure, 250 feet long and 50 feet wide, was destroyed by fire last night. The building was known as No 13, and was used principally as a storehouse and repair shop. It contained valuable machinery, small arms, shell casings, steel guns, paints, and rigging valued at $250,000.

The building was valued at $50,000. It oc-cupled the navy yard block bounded by Perry street, Second street, Chaufeey avenue, and Third street, within 200 feet of the water front. At 9:45 o'clock a marine doing guard duty in the yard saw smoke issuing from a window on the second floor of the building. He quickly turned in an alarm which was communicated to the salps lying in Wallabout basin. were the battleships Indiana and Maine, the cruiser Detroit, the receiving ship Vermont and the monitors Terror and Puritan. The crews of all the ships were called to quarters, and details were made to fight the fire. In the meantime an alarm had been sent out to the city fire department, and a third alarm brought the fireboats David A. Boody and Seth Low.

The Marine Fire Corps in the navy yard were the first to arrive with their old-fashioned hose carriages. Then came fire cutters from the Indiana with 200 sailors. The sailors were armed with axes, fire hooks, battering rams, and white wooden buckets. They had just turned it aboard ship for the night after half an hour's fire drill. When they respended to the call for real fire duty they tumbled from their boats, batless and shoe less. Three minutes after the call to quarter was sounded two hundred jackies had crossed the Wallabout Bay, and were running in double file up through the navy yard, carrying their buckets, axes, and hooks. When the big doors of the burning building had been battered down the sailors were sen into the building to save the machinery and other things in there. While the Indiana's men were at work dragging tons of steel from the building with ropes and rapidly rigged derricks, the men from the other ships were landing, laying pipe lines and attacking the fire with water pumped by one of the fire boats. Squads of sailors with buckets of water were sent upon the roofs of the neighboring buildings, which they saved from the fiames.

When the Brooklyn firemen got up with nine engines Chief Bale found a scarcity of water, so that only four of the engines could be brought into service. The pipes from the other engines were laid from the burning buildings to the water front, where the two fireboats were brought into use, pumping the water from the bay. By the time the fireboats got to work the entire building was in flames, and soon afterward the roof fell in, making a noise resembling the firing of musketry.

In and about the Navy Vard great crowds had other things in there. While the Indiana's men

In and about the Navy Yard great crowds had gathered. When they heard the noise of the roof falling they believed that it was the explosion of loaded cartridges in the burning building, and they scattered in a hurry. Some one started a story to the effect that several persons had been injured, and ambulance calls were sent out.

An ambulance from the City Hoanital on the way to the yard collided with a fuel supply wagon and was badly damaged. The driver, however, and the surgeon, Dr. Benton, luckily escaped injury and continued in the broken down ambulance to the fire. When they got there they found that only one man had been injured. He was B. F. Shay, from the Vermont. His arm and hand had been lacerated by falling slate from the roof, and he had received bruises about the back, head, and shoulder.

Lawrence Me June 21 -- Prof. I. C. Ratema of Auburn, who was the candidate of the People's party of Maine for Governor last year, to-day made public two important charges against W. J. Bryan. He says that the Populist Congressman Freeman Knowles of South Dakota, while on his recent trip to his old home in Skowhegan, Me., informed a conspicu ous citizen of that town that Mr. Bryan's recent wift of $1.500 to the Populist National Commit tee was made with the distinct understand ing that no action against fusion should be taken by the People's party before the next National Convention. This, Prof. Bateman says, is nothing more or less than direct bribery. Bateman also says that Bryan has appended his (Bateman's) name to Senator Allen's letter of notification given out last September. Bateman was Secretary of the Notification Committee. but did not sign the letter in question. He says

Hanna Denies Emphatically Eumors of the eretary's Coming Bettrement. CLEVELAND, June 21 .- Senator Hanna says to lay that there is no foundation in fact for the report that John Sherman is to retire from the office of Secretary of State. "I ought not to find it necessary to deny this story, which is published merely for the purpose of breeding dissension in the Republican party," said Mr. Hanna. "It is absolutely untrue, and a denial ought not to be necessary. This is the last time I shall take the trouble to deny it or any similar reports. Secretary Sherman will not leave the Cabinet, and Judge Day will not succeed him. Judge Day has for years been a trusted friend of President McKinley. Their relations have always been of the closest nature, and naturally the President consults the Judge now as he did before he was made President, but the Judge has his place and Sherman has his. M. J. O'BRIEN FOR MAYOR?

PRICE TWO CENTS.

SHEEHAN WANTS TO NOMINATE THE

JUSTICE, WHO OBJECTS. le Is a Gold Democrat and Brother-in-Law of John D. Crimmins-His Acceptance Might Make a Nice Vacancy for Francis M. Scott and Another for a Corporation Counsel.

Leader John C. Sheehan of Tammany Hall and his friends, according to the best informed Tamn.any men last night, have begun a movement looking to the nomination in the Poporatic City Convention of Justice Morgan J. O'Brien of New York city to be the Popocratic candidate for Mayor of Greater New York. Justice O'Brien's term on the Supreme Court bench will expire on Dec. 31, 1901. Justice O'Brien is a brother-in-law of John D. Crimmins, and in the McKinley-Bryan battle ast year was a sound-money Democrat. Being on the bench, he made no speeches and took no active part in the national campaign againm the Chicago repudiationists. The Tammany friends of Justice O'Brien, to was ascertained last night, have acquainted him within the last few days of the desire of Mr. Sheehan, Mr. Crimmins, and others to bring about his nomination by Tammany Hall, and is appears that Justice O'Brien is not favorable to the proposition, and that unless he is pushed to extremities by his friends, whose good opinions he values, he will eventually decline the proffered nomination.

Corporation Counsel Francis M. Scott, it was announced, would like it very much if Justice O'Brien would accept the proposition. Mr. Scott is a candidate for one of the two vacancies on the Supreme Court bench in the First Judicial district. He isn't certain that he can be nominated to succeed Justice George P. Andrews or Justice Charles H. Van Hrunt, whose terms expire on Dec. 31, 1897, and Mr. Scott, some of his lawyer friends said last night, believes that Justice O'Brien would do well to look favorably upon the proposition to make him Tammany's candidate for Mayor.

Ex-Mayor William R. Grace. Tammany's ancient foe, has had frequent discussions with "his friends the enemy," and the burden of the conversation. It was declared, was the further advancement of Mr. Scott. With a general understanding all around, it was added, and with Justice O'Brien the Mayor of Greater New York, there would be a Corporation Counsel to be appointed. announced, would like it very much if Justice

CORPSE ON VIEW IN A PARK.

A Man Who Died in Mulberry Hend Park Left There for More Than an Hour.

Michael Ardel, day custodian of the cottage in Mulberry Bend Park, died suddenly in the park last evening. He was to have gone off duty at 7 o'clock, but at 6:55 a man found him ill on a bench in the cottage. He made an effort to speak, but failed, and became unconscious. He died a few minutes later. Heart disease was probably the cause. Just before death Ardel was carried out of the cottage and placed in a sitting position with his back against the wall. No one on duty last night at the cottage or at the Arsenal in Central Park knew the dead man's name.

Ar'el was a German, about 65 years old, and lived at 199 Avenue B. He was a veteran of the Grand Army.

The body was left in the park for more than an hour, with the cost over the head and the has placed on top. Hundreds of men, women, and children from the neighboring tenements swarmed about the spot, fighting for places at the front from which they could see the body.

CHICAGO'S HYENA KILLED.

Laid Low to the Strawberry Patch of the Old People's Home. Curcago, June 21,-Jim, the much-wanted Lincoln Park hyena that gnawed his way out of his cage a week ago, is dead. He was laid low this morning with a bullet fired by Superintendent Mertens of the Old People's Home at Harlem ten miles west of Chicago. Jim has led the police and the Lincoln Park authorities a deviour chase ever since his escape. He had travelled all over the northern and western portions ened all over the northern and western portions of the city, examining cemeteries and inspecting garbage dumps, until he finally wandered into the garden of the Old People's Home.

Superintendent Mertens was picking strawberries in the garden when he heard a savage growl, and, looking up, he saw Jim's blazing eyes only a few fect distant. He ran into the office of the Home, got a revolver, a big buildag, and John Redlich, one of the inmates. The men set the dog on the introduct and there was set the dog on the intruder, and there was a battle, which was short and decisive. The bull-dog slunk away with its tail between its logs, as badly whipped as if it'had been a poodle. One leg was nearly bitten off. Jim ran under some bushes, but Mertens and Redlich, at shorts rance, emptied two revolvers into him. Two bullets lodged in his body and ended his carees.

considerable fund was in the hands of the club's treasurer. Two hundred repeating rifles and 4.000 rounds of ammunition were purchased and a large occan tug was chartered for the summer months.

Gordon Bower of Bainbridge, Ga., presided at the meeting to-day, but he would say nothing about it. Apalachicola has been chosen as the sailing point of the expedition, and it will depart on July 7, proceeding directly to some inconspicuous Cuban harbor, where it will be received by some of Gomer's officers and conducted to the insargent camp. It is said that the fathers of Laost of the students concerned have lent their consent to the scheme. Every member of the university athletic team is a prospective flibuster.

Clevelands Off for Gray Gables. PRINCETON, June 21.-Former President Cleve land and family left Princeton to-day by the Colonial express on the Pennsylvania Railroad for their summer home at Gray Gables. The party was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, the three little girls and their governess, and one maid. The other servants will follow in a few days, and the Princeton house will be closed for the summer. Several improvements will be made on the house during the absence of the occupants. The Clevelands expect to remain as Gray Gables till October, when they will return to Princeton. Mr. Cleveland recently said that he expected to spend the remainder of his life in his Princeton home.

Wounded in an Effort to Brive Out the Cown. NEW ORLEANS, June 21 .- George Brunigle, Alexander Green, and John Green, his son, were shot by assassins at McDonoughville yes terday. Alexander Green cultivates a small kitchen garden. His fences were knocked down reterilar and a number of cows were feeding on his vegetables. He was afraid to repair his fence, for he had been threatened with assas-sination. Encouraged by a neighbor, Brunigle, Green, and his son went into the garden to drive out the cows, when the assassins fired on the party from the neighboring woods, wounding all three.

Killed at the Hat.

FORT EDWARD, N. Y., Jone 21.-In a game of baseball between Sandy Hill teams on the Washington County Fair Grounds yesterday after noon Arthur Smith, aged 10 years, was in-stantly killed at the bat. Edward McGuliness, the pitcher, delivered the ball, and it struck Smith behind the left car, knocking him down. He attempted to rise, but fell back and expired. Physicians were summoned, but were too late to render any assistance.
